Writers Go West!

Byron Writers Festival Road Trip to bring writers to Casino, Tenterfield and Glen Innes

The Byron Writers Festival Road Trip rides again this year heading west to Casino, Glen Innes and Tenterfield. Byron Writers Festival, StoryBoard program and the colourful StoryBoard bus will be transporting a group of city slicker authors out to talk tall tales with readers in the heartland of Australian bush mythology. Spoken word artist Miles Merrill and novelists Sophie Green and Jennifer Downs will leave their lattes to saddle up with jillaroo Road Trip coordinator Zacharey Jane.

In Glen Innes the Byron Writers Festival Road Trip will be visiting the Chapel Theatre Tuesday 1 August at 7.30pm. Tickets are $5 and available at Carelles or at the door.

Festival Director Edwina Johnson commented of this year's direction 'This is the fourth year of the Byron Writers Festival Road Trip. It has been a great success, boasting an award winning alumni and inspiring great writing such as Nick Earl's novella 'Vancouver'.

While in each town, the posse will be sharing their penmanship with local readers and writers in a series of workshops, discussions and conversations, thrashing out the rival merits of bush poetry vs. rap, rural romance vs. post-punk fiction. The evening events will be off-the-page entertaining, with something for book lovers of all ages.
